

World Migratory Bird Day

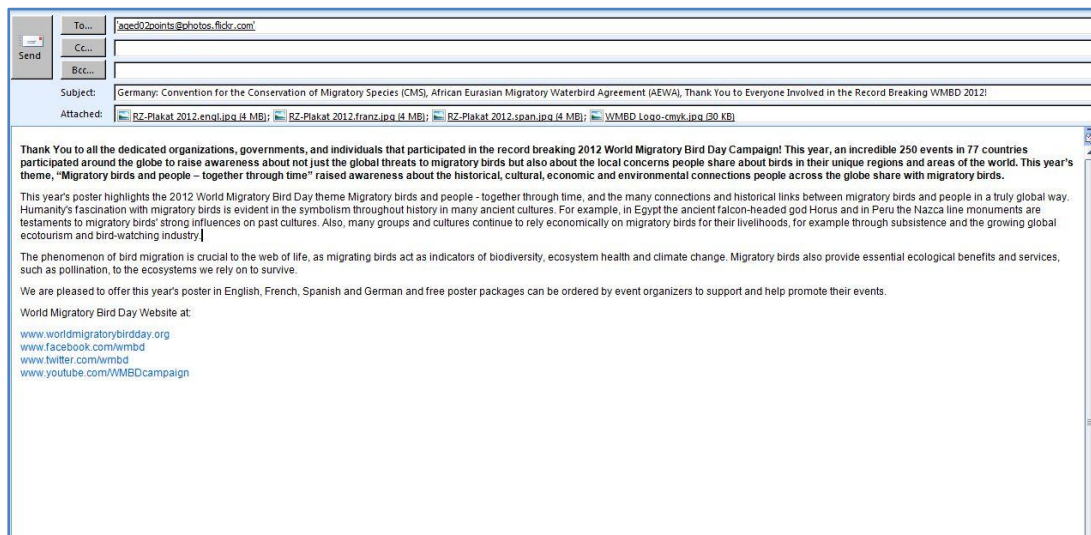

How to add your World Migratory Bird Day Event Photos, Event Reports and Information about your Organization to the WMBD Flickr Account

Tell us about your WMBD event, promote your organization and provide links to your website and projects through the WMBD Flickr Photo Gallery!

It is easy to add your World Migratory Bird Day Photos, Event Reports and Information about your organization to the WMBD Flickr Account!

Just follow the easy steps below:

1. Make a new email to aged02points@photos.flickr.com
2. For the “Subject” of the Email, write the name of your country, the name of your organization, the name of your World Migratory Bird Day event and the credit for the Photographer (if needed).

3. The “Subject” of the email will become the title of the photograph and will tell people where you are!
4. Attach our World Migratory Bird Day event photos to your Email, as .JPG files.

5. Add your event report as text, links and paragraphs in the body of the email as shown above!
6. Feel free to include in the email body information about your World Migratory Bird Day 2012 events, introduce and tell us about your organization as well as tell us about other interesting projects your organization is doing!
7. The body of the email will become the description for all the photos that are attached to the email!
8. If you want, you can send more than one email, with different emails attached each time. That way you can give different names to different groups of photos (you may need to send more than one group anyway due to your email size restrictions). Feel free to send all your photos together in one email, or send as many as you would like with different "Subjects".
9. Press send, and check out your photos (They might take a few hours to appear), event descriptions and organization descriptions on the World Migratory Bird Day Flickr Account!

This could be your photo and organization description on the WMBD Flickr account!
